GERMAN ADVANCE TOWARD DUNKIRK IS SAID TO BE CHECKED.

GERMANS ARE SAID TO BE BRINGING UP YOUNG RESERVES—RUSSIANS ARE ADVANCING IN THE EAST.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 13.—The Germans have crossed the Yser river, according to the admissions in the latest Paris communication, and although the invaders occupy only a few hundred yards on the left bank of the stubbornly contested river, the allies cannot be indifferent to this gain and desperate efforts will be made to drive back this slight wedge.

The Ypres, extending like a fortress into the plans of the invaders, is still held by the British, and unless the flank attack on this position is successful Dunkirk is likely to prove a barren gain for the Germans, who still find the way to Dunkirk barred. The theory that the Germans are making an unprecedented attempt on this last objective is confirmed by an official just returned to Holland from the front. He claims the severity of the German defeat is due to the fact that so many troops have been detached for the efforts against Calais.

Little attention has been paid to the operations along the river Aisne, but according to late dispatches fierce fighting is recalling the early days of the siege battle there has been in progress for some time with no great alterations in the line, but some slight advantage in favor of the allies.

German Losses. In the coast battle the latest reports indicate that the Germans after heavy artillery fire, made massed infantry assaults, suffering losses much heavier than the defenders.

From the east come reports that Petrograd is expecting to hear any moment that the great battle before Gradow has been started, while past Kalisz and behind a screen of Cossacks, while infantry and artillery in force are said to be within striking distance of the German frontier. Bucharest reports two Austrian divisions annihilated along the river Pruth, which if true indicates that the Austrian opposition in Bukovina is at an end and the way open for the invasion of Transylvania.

In the minor war theatres there is little to report except the severe defeat administered to General De Wet by his old comrade in arms, General Botha.

Fight With Turks. Included in the information given in the press today from official quarters is the following:

"Reports received here from Constantinople forth that the Turkish army in the Caucasus is attacking the Russians on their second line of defense. An artillery engagement near Capri on Nov. 8 lasted all day long. The Persian Afghan, Egyptian, Indian and Mohammedan elements in Constantinople have declared the community of their interests. The Sunnites and the Shites (two opposing religious sects) are now for the first time ready for joint action.

The Vossische Zeitung reports that Roumania has declined a demand made by Russia for the passage of Russian troops through Roumanian territory.

In the East. The Russians have advanced through the region of Central Galicia roundly evacuated by the Austrians, and have crossed the lower Vistula, occupying Rzesow and the Lescz district. The fortress of Przemyśl again is invested by the Russians, but Russian forces in the Stry valley were forced to retreat, but heavy losses by a surprised attack from an Austrian armored train and Austrian cavalry.

The campaign in northwestern Serbia is proceeding successfully. The rights of Alsace to the south of Silesia were captured Nov. 10, the Austrians forcing the Serbians to abandon their strongly fortified positions. The Austrian line has advanced to the eastward from Lesnitz and Koupent and continued to move forward. The heights to the eastward of Jarlata have been captured. A total of 28 cannon, 18 machine guns and 4,300 men were captured in the operations between November 6 and 11.

Drive Enemy. German military headquarters today gave out an official announcement as follows:

"On the branch of the Yser canal at Neuport our marines have inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and we have taken 700 prisoners. During our attacks on Ypres, which have progressed favorably, 1,100 prisoners have been taken.

"Fierce French attacks to the west and east of Soissons have been repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. On the East Prussian frontier at Bydtkubnen and also further south to the east of the outlet of the Masurian lakes, fresh battles have developed, but no decision has yet been reached."

French Report. Paris, Nov. 13.—Conviction is growing here that the period of the German strategic offensive is drawing to a close, and that war on both western and eastern fronts is about to enter its third phase.

The present violent efforts in the Ypres region while it may have succeeded in bending the allies' line in a few places, has not yet according to either French or German reports succeeded in breaking it, and it seems impossible that the attempt can be repeated under the same conditions. Even success at this point may prove merely momentary, like that at St. Mihiel, on the Meuse, six weeks ago.

That General Joffre, the French commander in chief, is fully alive to the importance of this position, and according to an officer just returned from Ypres, that eventually have been prepared for at Ypres and its environs. Although the artillery of the Germans is formidable, that of the allies is still more so, and causes fearful carnage in the enemy's trenches. The fighting in this region is largely an artillery duel, with the infantry remaining in the trenches. They can only approach the enemy by boring tunnels which are converted into trenches by piercing the roof.

However important the operations in Flanders may be they are now overshadowed both in extent and the influence they have on the war as a whole by the eastern campaign.

Expert Opinion. Colonel Feyer, editor of the Swiss Military Review, and one of the best known military specialists, declares that Russia is now about to bring to bear all her effective, and if it is realized that she intervenes at a moment when in Flanders German leaves of the third line, young soldiers with six weeks' training, are being brought into action, the full significance of the operation on the eastern front will be recognized.

"Three Austro-German armies," Colonel Teyler continues, "advancing toward the angle of Thorn and Cracow. The Russian commander seems to be planning the offensive in the latter direction. If he succeeds, the result will be far reaching. The Austrian army will be cut off from the Germans and forced to accept battle with their backs against the Carpathian mountains."

"In addition there is prospect of a battle in the center of the line from Posen to Breslau toward the German army of Selcia seems to be directed in retreat and at a more or less definite West Prussia will be threatened by way of Thorn."

LABORING MEN MOURN CHERRY MINE VISITORS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 13.—Five years ago in this little coal-mining community took place a disaster that cost the lives of 253 bread-winners and today their brothers of the great family or organized labor gathered here to mourn their loss. It was the anniversary of the explosion in a mine in which nearly three hundred men were trapped by a gas explosion and flames. A few escaped, twenty were found alive after being imprisoned for one week and the remainder perished.

The ceremonies included a memorial parade headed by funeral band and addresses by labor leaders. The speakers were Duncan McDonald, secretary-treasurer of German, vice president, Frank Heffler, executive board member, all of the Illinois mine workers, and Frank Farrington, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America.

HUNDRED THOUSAND DECREASE IN TAXES

BIG DECREASE IN STATE AND COUNTY LEVY PASSED BY COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

SESSION ENDS TODAY

County Board Closes November Meeting This Afternoon After Dining With Sheriff Whipple.

Discussion in the interests of economy which has aroused the voters of Wisconsin during the past eight months, has taken early effect in Rock county. At the session of the county board this morning the county tax budget for $327,136, or more than a hundred thousand dollars less than 1913, was passed, indicating a reduction of about twenty-five per cent in the state and county taxes.

The total state tax including special charges and school district loans is $161,534.10; the county school tax amounts to $444,771.82; and the county levy totals $120,580.40, making the grand total for the county $327,136.12. The county levy is divided as follows: General purposes, $70,000; soldiers' relief fund, $7,120; roads and bridges, $22,100.40; the road and bridge fund is divided as follows according to the report of Committee No. 6 as submitted by Supervisor Treadway: Roads, $27,102; bridges, $2,600; reconstruction fund, $1,400.

The apportionment of the state and county tax levy in the county will be made on a basis of eighty per cent of the true valuation as fixed by Supervisor of Assessments, A. T. Taylor, according to the report of the committee on equalization which was read by Supervisor Wilford. The report which was made a special order of business for this morning, was passed without discussion.

Raise Bonds of Officers. Among other matters of importance this morning the board of the commission on the bond of the county treasurer, which was raised from $500 a year to $50,000 a year, the cost of the same to be paid out of the general fund. The resolution providing for this change was introduced by Supervisor Richardson, who explained that the highway commissioner handled during the year some $125,000 or more which he paid out on his own order without the endorsement of the county clerk or other officer. It was a matter of wisdom to protect the county by providing a bond for a larger amount.

Under the law it was also found necessary to raise the county treasurer's bond from $50,000 instead of $50,000, which was done upon resolution of the board. Chairman Moseley appointed a special committee composed of Supervisors Marquart, Richardson and Doty to act with some independent charges in making out contracts with the incoming sheriff and register of deeds. The committee was instructed to complete its function during the noon recess if possible and report at the session this afternoon. It was not expected that the old contract with the sheriff would be renewed and it was hoped that some important changes might be made in view of the new law which relieves the sheriff of much of the expense of boarding prisoners.

County Depositories. The question of county depositories in the county shall become the depositories for county funds during the coming year was a special order of business for this morning. An elaborate report from two Beloit banks which agreed to pay three per cent interest on daily balances. It was finally decided, after some discussion, to reject the report and to award the honor of Supervisor Paulson the rate which banks shall pay for county money shall be three per cent. All banks of the county are to be considered in the required bond under the pro-rata scheme which was adopted last year shall be entitled to their share of that money. No denial of that money. BRITONS AND JAPS SEEK GERMAN BOATS

SOUTH AMERICAN SEA COAST WILL BE SCENE OF CONFLICT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 13.—The British and Japanese naval forces are seeking German submarines in the South American sea coast, where a conflict is imminent.

Both Sides Prepare for What May Be Conclusive Engagement—Other Reports.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, Nov. 13.—A special from Dunkirk states that a French torpedo boat sank a German submarine off West End, Belgium.

The submarine, it appears, was trying to torpedo the French warship, when the latter's commander caught sight of her periscope, put on full speed and charged down on the enemy, which disappeared. A large quantity of oil arose to the surface marking the spot where the submarine sank.

Seeking Provisions. S. Valparaiso, Chile, Nov. 13.—The German cruisers, Leipzig, and Dresden, steamed into Valparaiso harbor this morning and at once started to take in supplies and provisions.

Jap Cruisers. A cablegram from Montevideo last night made reference to the Japanese cruiser squadron in the Pacific reported to have been off Easter Island, about 2,000 miles west of Chile, some ten days ago, saying this squadron consisted of eight vessels.

A later dispatch from Valparaiso last night says that it was reported that a Japanese squadron had been sighted off Cape Horn, 250 miles south of Valparaiso. It was on Cape Horn that a British warship was reported to have gone ashore after a naval engagement, but no trace of the vessels has been found.

This morning the long missing German cruisers Leipzig and Dresden arrived at Valparaiso. Nothing definite had been heard from these warships since the action on Nov. 1. In the report of the sea fight and subsequent developments the cruiser Dresden was reported to have been captured by the German cruiser Bremen.

In official and unofficial reports each vessel has been described as the fifth member of the German squadron participating in the engagement, but in no reports have both vessels been mentioned.

See Fleet. Lima, Peru, Nov. 13.—The watchman of the Police Guard made definite reports that on Wednesday, Nov. 11, he saw six cruisers steaming south. His opinion was that they were German ships. He could not identify them definitely but believed that they were the Scharnhorst, the Gneisenau and possibly the Leipzig were among them.

Port Corral is 475 miles south of Valparaiso.

Hear from Karlsruhe. London, Nov. 13.—It is rumored among shipping firms in London that the German cruiser, Karlsruhe, has been cornered.

BELOIT RECLUSE SENT TO COUNTY POOR FARM

Owen Tulley, a Beloit man, was brought to the county jail this noon by Chief of Police Quailman, to be taken to the County poor farm for a period of ninety days, sentence being pronounced by Judge John Clarke.

Tulley was arrested last evening by the Beloit police on a vagrancy charge, and he has been living in the woods on the Christenson farm, near Beloit, as a hermit. When arrested the police thought they had found a second "Rip Van Winkle," for Tulley had a three months' shaggy beard. The man has served a two years' term in Joliet for arson, and the farmers feared he would burn their buildings.

COMMONS HEARS THE REPORT OF ASQUITH

Fifty-Seven Thousand English Have Lost Their Lives in Struggle Thus Far.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 13.—The British casualties in the war up to October 31 were approximately 57,000 men of all ranks. This estimate was given by Premier Asquith in the house of commons today in reply to a question asked by Mr. John Glynne, member of the house from East Denbshire. Mr. John also desired information as to the government's proposals as to the final conditions of peace, the effective establishment of international law, the cessation of competitive military expenditure, etc.

Premier Asquith in reply to Mr. John's question, gave the British casualties and added that he was in a position to estimate the losses of the enemy he referred Mr. John to his recent speeches on the other questions raised.

A supplementary estimate to provide for another million men required by the British government during the year ending March 31, was introduced in the house of commons today. This brings the total army, not including the territorials, to 2,186,400 officers and men.

GAIN FOR HUSTING ON SECOND CHOICE

Leads McGovern by Eleven Votes on Ballots of Hill and Seidel in Fifty Counties.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13.—That the second choice voters have but little effect upon the returns in the United States senatorial contest is indicated from the official returns received at the office of the secretary of state from fifty counties. In these counties Charles E. Hill, prohibition candidate, received 5,842, and Emil Seidel, the socialist candidate, received 6,252. Out of these two votes 397 second choice voters cast votes for which Paul O. Husting received 204 votes and Governor McGovern 133 votes. Thus far on the second choice votes officially reported Husting has gained eleven votes. It is said here that officials representing the Husting interests have been appointed in every county to investigate into the official returns.

AFTON MAN WILL BE BURIED ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Afton, Nov. 13.—The funeral of the late Frank Rodan, who passed away at the Methodist hospital for the insane on Wednesday, will be buried here tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The deceased was forty-eight years of age. He had been in the hospital for the past eighteen months. Mr. Rodan had made his home in the town of Beloit practically all his life. He is survived by a widow and one child and one brother, Ferdinand Rodan of the town of Beloit. The Rev. P. Pichler of Beloit will conduct the funeral ceremonies at the grave.

YOUNGSTOWN PUPILS MAY STUDY AGRICULTURE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 13.—An agricultural high school amidst the grime and dirt of Youngstown's steel and iron foundries is the plan that Dr. N. H. Chaney, Youngstown physician, will bring before the school board here today.

"My desire," says Dr. Chaney, "is to have a high school course to include an academic curriculum with special instruction in agriculture. I want to prepare children of the city for occupation which will take them into the pure wholesome air of the country and develop them into sturdy, self-reliant men and women."

Dr. Chaney's plan as submitted to the board contemplates a sixteen room building with ample farm land adjoining on the outskirts of the city. The course would include four years of academic and practical farm training.

ATTACK ORDERED BY VILLA ON TAMPICO

HOSTILITIES BETWEEN RIVAL MEXICAN FACTIONS BEGINS AT ONCE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 13.—General Villa has ordered an attack on Tampico. His army is operating on San Luis Potosi, which was occupied without firing. A host of official dispatches received here today say that the people received Villa with an ovation.

While no armed clash has been reported today between the forces of Carranza and the Aguas Calientes convention, both sides were preparing for hostile operations. As many of the generals are wavering in their allegiance, it is not expected that the exact strength of either faction will develop until the doubtful ones definitely announce their alignment. From Tampico today came word to the state department that General Louis Caballero, governor of the state of Tamaulipas, had publicly announced his allegiance to Carranza, and that the seaport feared an attack from the west. A consular dispatch, however, says Tamaulipas, which General Guiblerce, now provisional president at the Aguas Calientes convention, was formerly governor, will stick by him. The Guiblerce forces are concentrating in the city of San Luis Potosi, and may move eastward to attack Tampico.

Whether Villa will fight the first important battle of the new war south of Aguas Calientes depends on the attitude of General Gonzalez, division commander at Querataro. Gonzalez has several thousand troops. He has been a friend of Carranza and enemy of Villa. While some dispatches indicate Gonzalez might stand by the convention, many persons here conversant with the situation believe otherwise. While there was still hope that hostilities may be averted by the generals themselves reaching an understanding whereby General Carranza could retire, officials expect that if civil war results it will be much more extensive than anything Mexico has ever experienced. Larger forces than have ever before been under war has been organized. As many as a hundred thousand soldiers are being equipped, and as many more are available.

American Troops Wait. Washington, Nov. 13.—Not until it is determined which of the contending Mexican factions can exercise control of Vera Cruz and execute the guarantees requested by the United States will American troops be ordered from the southern ports. That section containing the president Wilson and his advisors stood today as the American attitude toward the Mexican situation which threatened a renewal of civil strife.

EXHIBIT COLLECTION OF GERMAN PRIZES

German Government Places Education Features on Exhibit at Leipzig for Public.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Nov. 13.—An interesting exhibit of things connected with the war is to be seen at the International Book Exposition at Leipzig. Because of the popularity of his branch, the exhibition is open after the close of the exposition proper. The German government regards it as necessary to the education of the people, and as a means of raising money.

One section is devoted to prominently displayed topics of foreign papers with absurd or deliberately false reports concerning Germany. These reports are heavily bordered, and besides each is a translation. German newspapers from cities occupied by the Russians are also displayed, containing the proclamations and orders of the Russian commanders and blank columns where the Russian censor prohibited the publication of certain articles.

A collection of articles from the battlefronts of Belgium includes five valuable old miniature paintings, saved by a German soldier from a burning Hasterre, near Dinant.

Literature evoked by the war is represented by a large collection. It includes cartoons from hostile publications, letters and postcards from the front—some of the latter consisting of a section cut from a Belgian aeroplane which had been brought down, and various engravings and paintings.

Another section is given over to uniforms, projectiles, captured weapons and flags. The collection includes a knout taken from a Cossack.

TOWN OF AVON BOY PRIZE CORN GROWER IN COUNTY CONTEST

MILTON ANDERSON RAISES 132
BUSHELS ON ACRE PLOT,
WINNING FIFTY DOL-LAR PRIZE.

BIG YIELDS REPORTED

Thirteen Boys Qualify as Members of "Top-Notch Club" as Result of Showing in Commercial Club's Competition.

Milton Anderson, seventeen years old, of the town of Avon, is the banner corn grower of Rock county. In the Janesville Commercial Club's county corn contest he was awarded the fifty dollar cash prize on his record of a yield of 132 bushels and sixty-four pounds on an acre plot, with a percentage ranking 355. George Stinson, second honor, won second honor with a yield of 123 bushels; David Dean of Avon won third and Henry Jager of Janesville was fourth.

There were over two hundred persons present at the dinner and exercises at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon, at which the prizes were awarded. The contestants, forty or more in number, their fathers and mothers, the Janesville retailers, who were the judges, the commercial club supervisors and directors of the Commercial Club, were entertained at dinner, after which a program of rare interest was enjoyed.

Thirteen of the boys who took part in the contest obtained yields of over 100 bushels per acre, and in consequence are eligible to membership in the "Top Notch Club," a national organization of men and boys who can qualify with a certified record of high corn yields.

Interest shown in the contest by the whole farming public of the county was most enthusiastic. It was indicative of greater agricultural results for Rock county; it portended bigger yields, better crops, greater coop-erations. The boys and their parents, many of them, took occasion to thank Secretary McDowell of the Commercial Club for the great work which he has achieved through the corn growing competition.

The judges, who were L. C. Bewick, head of the agricultural club work of Wisconsin, and J. A. James, worker in the state agricultural schools and promoter of agricultural work belonging to Wisconsin university, experienced a difficult task in judging the various yields handed in by the industrious youths. It was found necessary to make the exhibits by percentage and not entirely by yield, the result being that many of the marks varied only by a fraction, as is shown in the accompanying table.

To show that the first place winner
did not win by his yield exclusively, Frank Moore, of Beloit, eighth winner, handed in the best ten ears of corn.
Leonard Hutchins, winner of tenth place, handed in the second best bundle of ears.

The prizes were divided as follows: First, $50; second, $35; third, $25; fourth, $15; fifth, $10; next five prizes, $5 each.

In judging the exhibits handed in
the judges used the following points:
Induration, 10 points; uniformity and trueness to type, 10 points; shape of ear, 10 points; color, 10 points; marked condition, 10 points; shape of kernel, 10 points; shape of tip, 5 points;
shape of butt, 5 points; distance between rows, 5 points; distance between rows on cob, 5 points; color
of cob, 5 points; percentage of corn
on cob, 10 points; and size, 5 points.

in many a year. "Club Work" was the subject taken up by Mr. Bewick.
He went on to give concrete illustrations regarding the success of enterprises in other communities. Interesting schemes whereby the father can keep his boys on the farm were further given by Mr. Bewick.

A James, the second judge, followed Mr. Bewick with a few statistics relative to the success experienced by corn growers in other counties. "In Racine county last year," said Mr. James, "the winner obtained 137.4 bushels from his yield, which is quite a record." He proved by illustrations that agricultural education is essential in producing good corn.

A few words were next given by L.
A. Markham, secretary of the commercial club, who took such active interest in the contest by aiding in seeking the supervisors and acting as a supervisor himself over several of the exhibitors. He was congratulated at the conclusion of his talk by President Parker and both the judges.

Parker Awards Prizes.

The program was concluded by President Parker when the prizes were awarded. Each successful contestant was given the handshake.
Mr. Parker as an act of appreciation for their skill and hard work during the months in which the contest was going on, presented each exhibitor with the right of such a handshake. The handing in his ten ears to be judged.
There were sixty-seven contestants entered at the opening of the contest, only forty-two handing in specimens.

The judges used the following points:
Induration, 10 points; uniformity and
trueness to type, 10 points; shape of
ear, 10 points; color, 10 points; marked condition, 10 points; shape of kernel, 10 points; shape of tip, 5 points;
shape of butt, 5 points; distance between rows, 5 points; distance between rows on cob, 5 points; color
of cob, 5 points; percentage of corn
on cob, 10 points; and size, 5 points.

Opening remarks by President
George S. Parker of the Commercial Club following the dinner that was served at twelve-thirty, emphasized the firm position the Commercial Club had taken in the contest, the idea being to secure the hearty co-operation between business men of the city and country. Louis Levy, representing the retailers, was next called upon to address the gathering. He responded in a few words, stating definitely the friendly relationship that existed between the retailers of this city and the farmers of Rock county.

ORGANIZE DORMITORY CLUB LAST EVENING

Y. M. C. A. is Made Center of Organization in Which All Roomers Become Members.

Another step toward making the Y. M. C. A. of this city more of a social center than it has been in the past, was made last evening, when at the dormitory club was instituted at the association building at a meeting of the dormitory men who make their homes in the building.

Forty-five men became members of the organization last evening as the result of a suggestion calling for such a club, made at the meeting of the social committee held Saturday night. The men all seem enthusiastic over the idea of forming a club, and it is certain sociability will be promoted, once the club gets started.

Herbert Walaska was elected chairman, Peter Peterson, vice chairman, and Hugh L. Robinson, secretary and treasurer of the organization at the session held last night. The executive committee is composed of the officers and James Palmer and Roland Balgus.

Volley Ball Tourney.

At a meeting of the physical committee at noon, presided over by Prof. H. C. Buell, it was decided to inaugurate a volley ball tournament for the business men of the city.

Many Join Glee Club.

Quite a number have already signified their desire to become members of the glee club and those most interested are hoped to appear at a meeting for organization and practice.

PARIS MUSICAL LIFE SUFFERS WAR RIGOR

FAMOUS FRENCH DRAMATIC STARS LEAVE STAGE FOR THE ARMY SERVICE.

PATRIOTIC EMOTIONS

Impressive Incidents Follow Playing of National Airs of France in One Gay Musical Halls.

(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Paris, Nov. 12.—Four dramatic artists unequalled for roles in the theatre of war are among those who have most thickly filled with theatrical life the city of the Opera.
One of the baritone of the Opera Comique is driving a taxicab. Others have been driven to seek the most menial occupations. During the first days of the war many of these artists were allowed to sing in the streets, and really good artists were heard in the courts of apartment buildings, but on account of the crowds they drew this means of earning an existence was forbidden.

One familiar with the night life of Paris would hardly seek patriotic emotions at that music-hall to which the "Can-can" gave certain notoriety, and yet this place until recently closed was nightly the scene of impressive incidents characteristic of the French spirit in the city of the famous cabarets.

All amusements are now called, are censured to the feeling of the moment.

At the music-hall in question the orchestra struck the Marseillaise.
The Algerian riflemen rose from their front seat. His right hand was in a sling and it seemed to embarrass him.
He hesitated an instant and then his left went up in an impressive gesture to his red flag. While he stood there "at attention," a little trooper in the blue-trimmed Belgian cap clapped his hands, jumped to his feet and

JUNTO CLUB CONVENED AND HEARD READINGS

Whitewater, Nov. 13.—An evening meeting of the Junto club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heywood
C. Humphrey last Monday and each member was privileged to bring a guest to listen to a reading by Mrs.
H. C. Dixon, who had charge of the program for the evening. Mrs. Dixon first spoke of Browning's translation of the old German legend, "The Pied Piper," and how Miss Josephine Preston Peabody took the same legend and produced something exquisitely different. A blank verse play which won the Stratford prize for the best English or American play of the year. "The Pied Piper" was suggested by Otis Skinner's little daughter, and the play was first written for Mr. Skinner, whom Miss Peabody expected to take the part of the "Piper," but it has been taken by Miss Edith Matthe-son (Mrs. Charles R. Kennedy). "The Pied Piper" is a play, but a symbolic play into which is woven man's humanity to man, woman's attention to the neighborly, the church's influence on the town and the town's sordidness. In order to give the reading within a limited time, Mrs.
Dixon had spent much effort to select only such scenes as were necessary

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTI-PATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days.
Remember the "doss" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics.
How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different.
Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

The memorizing was then a compara-

A Married Last Evening.

A wedding of no little interest to their friends occurred at seven o'clock
Thursday evening, when Miss Clara
Hill became the bride of Edwin M.
Drewry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Onda. In the presence of their immediate relatives and a few friends.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Miller, and the groom is the second son of Mrs. C. E. Drewry.
They chose to be married in the home where they are to begin housekeeping, corner of Cheney and East North streets, just next door north of Mrs. C. E. Drewry's home where Mr.
Drewry has lived since boyhood.
Mr. Drewry is connected with Waters Brothers Garage.

After partaking of a wedding supper they left on the eight-fifteen train for a brief wedding journey. As both young people have lived here all their lives they have a large circle of friends who hope there may be a long and happy life together.

Mr. Howard Winn was an over Sunday guest of Lake Geneva was married on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Henderson, Roy N. Henderson and Miss Sara Niquet of this city attended the wedding.

Could Not Keep Secret.

The Whitewater friends of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Barnard were surprised yesterday to learn that it was their friend's wedding anniversary. They had not meant it to be known, but when Rev. W. L. Lewis motored from Sycamore Illinois, in order to offer his congratulations in a personal manner the news leaked out. Several friends presented them with roses, sweet peas, and chrysanthemums, and they received many letters from friends a far, who hope Mr. and Mrs.
Barnard may live on to another millennium. The members of the Congregational Church the comrades of the

CONFERENCE LEADERS IN SEMI-FINAL GAMES

INTEREST IN FOOTBALL CONFINED TO "BIG NINE" STRUGGLES SATURDAY.

YALE VS. PRINCETON

Wisconsin Plays Minnesota, Chicago Plays Illinois to Settle Conference Final Contestants. (By Stricker.)

Results in Saturday's football games will become history in the annals of the gridiron game, for in the west, three eleven, Chicago, Illinois and Wisconsin, play in the semi-finals for the conference laurels. In the east, the Yale-Princeton, Harvard-Brown struggles absorb the football interest. Intersectional contests are staged, but these games have lost their brilliancy since the defeat of Michigan by Harvard and the downing of Notre Dame by Yale and the Army. Western football has been defeated clearly in these games, although it is certain that at least two of the conference teams would have been capable of making a better showing than did the western representatives, who scheduled the games.

The race in the "big nine" has been fairly contested with three teams in the running and an excellent chance of having title honors being hopelessly confused on the outcome of Saturday's contests. The most attractive western battle is the fight to be staged at Urbana between Chicago and Illinois, two undefeated conference eleven. Should Illinois win, and it is hoped they will, the downstaters will have the honor of competing with Wisconsin a week later in the finals. Illinois Stronger.

Reports from the camps indicate that the Maroons will enter the important fray with a crippled eleven, but since Stagg has had two weeks to condition his team without a game, their alibi is scarcely believable. Without Grey, the Maroon followers could see no hope for victory over Illinois, as the greater part of Stagg's marvelous plays being built around this stellar halfback. It is almost certain Coach Stagg has his team groomed to perfection in fighting form with Grey in line-up to oppose Zuppke's gladiators in their championship march.

Illinois possesses a combination attack, which will prove hard for the Maroons to check. The play perfecting by Zuppke, includes old school football with the best plays of the new game that are used in the pinch and climax of a game as in the Minnesota contest, two weeks ago. The Illinois team has been trained to the limit in every phase of the game in both departments, and it is generally conceded by football experts that Zuppke's intensified football will bring victory to his school.

Chicago's Hope. Chicago's lone hope lies in the old master, Stagg. If this gridiron wizard can devise means to check the Illinois aggression, he will prove a wonder, for the Maroons are admitted to be play, being a collection of individual stars well drilled in Stagg football. Chicago has an advantage in the line individually, but in the backfield Illinois has three men, Pogue, Clark and Macomber that will test the Maroon defensive power.

Wisconsin Picked. Unless an unexpected trick is turned, Wisconsin will defeat Minnesota in the second conference title game, at Minneapolis. The defeat of the Gophers by Illinois is not indicative of the Wisconsin victory for no games have been played by which the two eleven can be compared. This game will be a crisis for the Badgers for if they defeat Williams' men, the conference title will be within their grasp in the Illinois game.

Coach Junken has strengthened the Badger defense greatly for this combat, to meet the famous Minnesota tactics that have proved a winner in many years. Wisconsin's line is considered the strongest in the conference and their backfield, especially Bellows, is on a par with any in the "big nine". If they lack the fighting spirit that tied the Maroons, the Badgers will go down in defeat and overconfidence would play havoc with their chances.

Cornell Meets Michigan. Michigan closes its season meeting the strong Cornell team at Ann Arbor, which should prove the hardest game that Yost's squad has encountered with the exception of the Harvard melee. The Wolverines defeat of the Quakers, showed the strength of Yost's steamroller, but the westerners will have a hard battle to repeat on Cornell, as the easterners have been developing strong of late, having a powerful heavy team. Michigan is handicapped greatly by the extreme hard schedule that has been played and only the exceptional playing of Mauletsch has saved them.

Notre Dame and Carlisle play the second intersectional game at Chicago, and both have been losing games this year. The "Catholics" came through the Army game in good condition and may prove equal to the task of defeating the Redskins.

Northwestern will take another drubbing in the hands of Purdue, as the Bolshermakers should rank at least fourth in the conference race. Iowa is set for the Ames game for the state championship and they "cop" with no trouble. Ohio meets Oberlin, a meiotic eleven.

Will Yale be able to duplicate Harvard's victory over Princeton? This is the main question to be settled in the east as Harvard is doped to have an easy victory over Brown whom Yale defeated. The Tigers will battle their strength's limit to land second place in the "big four" and an evenly fought battle is anticipated, with Yale having a slight advantage. It is expected Yale will open up in this game with Hinckley's new rugby football and the Tigers have been thoroughly drilled to meet this mode of play.

Harvard should not meet with easy opposition with Brown, as Coach Haughton will not risk his veterans, holding them out for the final game with Yale, a week later. The other eastern games are of sectional interest to the western gridiron followers, with the conference leaders playing.

BELOIT CANCELS THE GAME FOR SUNDAY

Bad Injuries Prevent Line City Football Eleven from Coming Here on Sunday.

There will be no inter-city football contest here Sunday. Word today from Beloit canceled the game. According to Herbert Hodge, captain of the Beloit O. A. A. team, his squad is in a dilapidated condition following a 14 to 0 defeat meted out at Freeport last Sunday, when the Line City players as a whole suffered bad injuries. One player has a bad knee cap, while the other are banged up badly.

Hodge wants a game with Captain Jim Stewart's local aggregation here a week from Sunday. Captain Stewart is willing that the game should be cancelled by the Beloit team under the circumstances, and will in all probability make arrangements for the later date.

Stewart had a strong team ready for the Beloiters and was prepared to meet an aggressive bunch from the Line City, which now boasts of numerous football aggregations from the Iroquois down.

Belvidere teams have written for dates and one eleven is desirous of coming here Nov. 21, but the game for next Sunday cancelled, it is more likely that the Beloit team will be met on the week following.

TEAM STILL HOPEFUL OF BEATING BELOIT

Best Material in School Will Meet Line City Eleven on Field of Play Tomorrow Afternoon.

At 2:45 tomorrow afternoon, Coach Curtis of the high school football squad will send his best team of the season onto the field to subdue the Beloit high school eleven in the crucial contest of the year. At 4:30 o'clock everyone in the city and at Beloit will know that whoever wins a real football match, attended by skill, speed and weight, was fought out for sixty minutes on the gridiron at the Jansville Park Association grounds.

Beloit declare they will win, but predict no score. They say that it is only a matter of score. That sort of dope is enough to discourage the blue aggregation, but no one is more elated over a blue victory than is Coach Curtis. A win is all that can be seen at the red school building, despite the discreditable showing the eleven has made all this fall. All suggestions introduced for making the day a hazing one will be hurried out, say the students. The tags have been used to a good advantage, practically every student purchasing one from the high school faculty, who have the sale of them in charge. Those possessing season tickets were given a tag, while the other students and outsiders were forced to buy one, which in turn pays their admission into the game.

The team that will start the game tomorrow against Beloit, comprises few veterans, but includes a bunch of fighters, some who have had the right spirit instilled in them this week. They are ready to fight for every inch, and are determined to get the jump on their rivals. The lineup will undoubtedly be as follows: M. Barclay, left end; Badger, left tackle; Raul, left guard; Dudley or Slawson, center; Slawson or Jones, right guard; Taylor, right tackle; McKinney, right end; Captain L. Stewart, quarterback; Cronin, left halfback; Dearborn, right halfback; More, fullback.

DEFEAT OF WOLGAST BY WELSH, ST. FORMER CHAMP IS ALL THROUGH.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
New York, Nov. 13.—Times haven't changed and the old saying that "they don't come back" sticks. Having once been shaken from a championship throne, fighters still preach from the houseposts that they are as good as ever, take on a few boys they would not even have looked at in other days, and then steer up against the new champion. The result is always the same. The former king pin gets a kicking.

In meeting Freddie Welsh, the lightweight champion, here recently Ad Wolgast wanted to satisfy that gnawing ambition to crawl back as a champion. He wasn't there by a mile. Welsh couldn't put him out and the fight was stopped in the eighth round because referee Roche declared Ad had broken a bone in his forearm when walling Freddie's skull, but Wolgast never threatened Welsh. Freddie out-boxed him and though Wolgast tried to bore in and keep the fighting at close quarters, Welsh stood him off and peppered him off with right and left hooks.

Wolgast looked strong and husky. He was brewed by the sun and carried the healthy flush of out-door living into the ring with him. He looked good, but the strength oozed as away as the fight progressed and Welsh is confident he would have given the former champion the K. O. had the fight gone another round. It's the same old story. These machines will go just so long and then they begin to burn out. When that starts a new boy comes along and puts over a crusher. Then comes a period of inaction, putting on of a little fat, reviving of the old ambish; training to get back into shape, a few easy bouts and the old champion thinks he is back. The old spark is gone, however. The energy boilers have caved in. It's simply all over.

Tim Murnane, President of the New England League, and dean of Boston baseball is out up over the fact that several of the Boston Braves have been lured upon the stage. "There is absolutely no excuse for Gowdy and Rudolph in their stage venture," says Murnane.

No excuse whatever except several thousand dollars to put away in the old family sock! Murnane is willing to excuse Manager Stallings, as he says George needs the money, there being no market for the $30,000 worth of cotton he has on his Georgia plantation. Well Rudolph has a new baby at his home.

McFARLAND WILL BOX BEFORE NEW YORK CLUB

Pockey McFarland, the Chicago, Chicago boxer, who has outgrown the lightweight limit, will re-enter the ring, having signed to meet either Champion Freddie Welsh or Mike Gibbons, claimant of the welter and middle weight title of the world, in New York in the near future.

McFarland recently challenged the lightweight limit, will re-enter Champion Welsh to a battle, if he is in at 135 pounds and Gibbons has agreed to make 145 pounds for the Chicago fighter, McFarland, when introduced at the White-Welsh bout in Milwaukee, looked to weigh around the 150 pound mark.

Welsh has offered to meet White again before the Milwaukee club or in New York, but Promoter T. S. Andrews has showed no inclination to match the pair, because of the trouble caused by them over the weight and referee question.

tive Stafford of Wisconsin is a member of the committee.

"Burleson's plan to replace the present civil service system, his believes, will mean a saving of $20,000,000 a year by putting the carrying of the rural mails out at contract."

What this man Burleson don't know about the mail service, would fill a large book, but he has been the man behind the gun for the past two years, and with a democratic congress back of him, he has been like a bull in a china shop.

The short session of congress, which convenes next month, will be the final session for many democratic members, and it will not venture on very much radical legislation, because the life of the national administration is at stake, and President Wilson is alive to the fact.

Postmaster General Burleson is serving his one and only term, and his star on his proposition will die a burning. The people are not ambitious to have his department make money. They are more interested in simple justice to railroads and employees who are burdened with extra work without pay, a fact which the southern gentleman has entirely overlooked.

The farmer's wife came in for her share of attention at the corn contest meeting yesterday afternoon, and it is to be regretted that every farmer in the county could not have listened to Miss Bailey's address. It was plain talk, right from the shoulder, and should stimulate action for the betterment of conditions in the average farm home. While science and invention have come to the relief of the man who till the soil, but little has been done for the patient women whose little world is represented by the four walls which surround her. The engine which pumps the water for the stock could be made to supply the house, with slight expense, and many other things could be made to contribute to the comfort of the wife.

Another case of democratic inefficiency has come to light in the department of animal industry, in connection with the hoof and mouth disease. The first case appeared in a herd at Niles, Michigan, and the local authorities, unable to diagnose it, sent samples of the infected virus to Washington, where the matter was treated lightly and the disease pronounced curable and not as dangerous as it is. On the strength of this judgment, cattle were shipped to Chicago regularly, from the infected district, and a dozen states were cursed with the plague before the Washington authorities grasped the situation. A congressional investigation is likely to follow, but the harm has been done.

The Mexican situation continues to resemble a Chinese puzzle. Carranza resembles one day and reinstates himself the next, while Villa plays a close second. The conservative people of Mexico, who represent the property interests, are in sympathy with neither faction, and would like to see both exterminated. The European war makes the Mexican quarrel look like thirty cents or less.

The "Wisconsin Idea" lost prestige with the visiting governors at Madison this week, when examined from the financial side, and when told that the luxury cost the people of the state about eighteen dollars per capita, they said that the result of the recent election was not a surprise. "God's patient poor" have been extremely patient, but they have been the goat, for the past decade, and the worm has turned.

The state board of control is working overtime to spend the special appropriation of the last legislature, and contracts for new buildings at state institutions are being let, at the edge of winter. "There is a reason."

CARTOON PLAY WAS ENACTED AT MYERS

Large Audience Sees "Bringing Up Father," Mildly Pleasing Musical Comedy, With Caricature Principals.

The much-heralded cartoon play, "Bringing Up Father," appeared at Myers theatre last evening. It was a typical Gus Hill production, dealing with the experiences of a newly rich family and the supreme efforts of "Father" and the "Girls" to bring "Father" an attempt to embellish on the satirical art of the George McManus cartoons.

The main character, "Father," was handled by Thomas Shagan, who at times delighted his audience with his broad brogue and imitable Irish wit, while he at other times barely had his audience with him. (To be sure, he was played by Florence Guise, who handled the part of the ludicrously crude social climber possibly well, which was all that could be expected of a rather difficult piece.)

Miss Georgia Campbell, and Elaine Gray, seen as Eleanor and Peggy, the "Girls," are possessed of fair voices and but moderate dancing ability. The songs, "Beautiful Girl," "Love You," "The Heart of a Hero," and "The Heart of a Hero," were rendered in a delightful manner by Harry Smith, who has a splendid voice. A number of other catchy, whistleable songs and music interspersed the play. The chorus, for the most part, seemed tired and let things drag, except during the finales, when they seemed to ginger up and received several encores.

"Bringing Up Father" played to a large house. If box office receipts are evidence of a show's success, certainly this one made good in that respect.

THE OLD STAR ROUTE.

A Washington dispatch to a Milwaukee paper says:

"Wisconsin rural free delivery carriers, along with all the other carriers of the United States, will be interested in the idea of Postmaster General Burleson to do away entirely with the civil service requirements for rural carriers and substitute the old contract system."

"There appears to be an obstacle to Mr. Burleson accomplishing this plan, and that is the unwillingness of congress to return to the days of the old star route system."

"When Burleson gets his plan in shape so that legislative action will be next in order, the matter will be presented to the postoffice committees of the senate and house. Representatives

OUR National Opportunity LESSON for AMERICA from the WAR

A NE WYORK BANK'S CHEERFUL SUMMARY

By George H. Benedict.

The Corn Exchange National Bank of New York summarizes the advantages of our present commercial situation in these conservative terms:

Seven hundred and twenty-five million dollars increase, compared with last year, in estimated value of seven crops, viz., corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, hay and potatoes.

War orders for record lots of harness, saddlery, shoes, textile products, blankets, hospital supplies, horses, coal, foodstuffs, etc.

Effective embargo against competing imports as result of the war.

Exports showing substantial excess over imports.

Prospective relief for financing the cotton crop and liquidation of our current debt abroad.

Stock of gold in the United States largest in the world.

Respite from legislative agitation.

Basier financial conditions.

Think of this: our farmers are getting nearly a billion dollars more for their crops this year than last, and the markets were never more active. Remember that the greater part of this extra money comes from abroad. While our imports have fallen off to a very large degree, our exports are increasing, and are greater than a year ago. This presses shipments of gold to this country later on.

Of the world's gold supply of $8,500,000,000, we have one-fifth in this country, or more than any other nation. This supply is bound to increase as we provision the European nations and furnish them with the countless variety of supplies needed to carry on the war.

Business has been complaining during the past three or four years of too much legislative interference and agitation. The country's present mood is to help business, not to hamper it. Without a doubt this spirit will encourage business to put more energy into its plans for trade expansion. Boosting is the fashion. Be a booster!

THURSDAY'S MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Without Chicago quotations as a guide, live stock trade at the country's market centers that have escaped quarantine was of the same erratic character yesterday as it has been all week.

Cattle receipts were light, but Kansas City and Omaha, the only two markets with fair crops, were lower. At Kansas City shipping demand subsided, and it has been the only strong proponent under the trade there all week. Omaha reported native beef cattle sharply lower.

One of the peculiar phases of the hog market was a 25¢@50¢ higher price at Kansas City and St. Joseph than at Indianapolis, where only.

Sheep and Lamb Market.

Morris & Co. became aggressive bidders for sheep and lambs at the leading Missouri River markets and, with but fair supplies, most of Wednesday's decline was regained. Omaha reported sales of lambs up to $9.25, yearlings of 106 lbs. at $7.25 and fat ewes at $6.25.

Among the developments of the day was the reopening of the National Stockyards at East St. Louis and the closure of the Cleveland stockyards, foot and mouth disease having been discovered at that point.

Chicago on reopening Monday will receive no interstate shipments from the area embraced by the federal quarantine. All Canadian live stock is also excluded by the embargo. The shipping outlet from Chicago will be open only for livestock coming from territory not embraced in the federal quarantine and for slaughter only.

Dr. C. H. Wright of Kansas City, Missouri, speaking on "Hoof and Mouth Epidemic," and Dr. A. A. Linley of St. Louis taking as his subject "Government Inspection of Meat," will be the speakers at the monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the Baptist church on next Tuesday evening. Both men have for the past week or more been inspecting the stock in Wisconsin, to locate the epidemic, and will be able to present on Tuesday night some valuable incidents and experiences concerning diseased cattle, as well as explaining the disease and the nature of it.

J. B. Humphrey will be the leader of the evening's program. All interested in the topics to be discussed are cordially invited to attend the program. A six-thirty banquet will be served by the ladies of the church to the brotherhood members preceding the program.

Childish Wrong-Doing.

A child should never be regarded as a criminal, but as a victim of crime. No child can create his own environment. Boys have often been punished for wrong-doing when it would be just about as sensible to whip a child for having diphtheria or typhoid.

The Perfect Standard.

It is a mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong, and expect everybody to conform to it. The Bible standard is the only perfect one, and we must allow others the same right of interpreting it as we claim for ourselves.—Selected.

After His Own Heart.
Museum Attendant—The bill of this pre-historic bird had thousands upon thousands of little holes all over it. Congressman (enthusiastically)—Magnificent! What an ideal one to introduce in congress!—Judge.

Had the Right Idea.
The tailor's sign in a little inland town was an apple—simply an apple. The people were amazed at it. They came in crowds to the tailor, asking him what on earth the meaning of the sign was. The tailor, with a complacent smile, replied: "If it hadn't been for an apple, where would the clothing business be today?"

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

CAN SOMEONE HELP MOLLY?
THE conversation had ranged about the handicap the European war imposes upon this and future generations in the sacrifice of men who, had they lived, might have made epoch-making contributions to science, art or literature.

"The individual is submerged in the mass: the day laborer and the student in the laboratory, the untutored peasant and the dreamer, the materialistic and the idealistic are unformed and armed and sent to the front," said the Author-man. "In fashioning their mighty war machines the nations are pouring into the crucible everything that can be used for the purpose. No man is considered save as a fighting unit—potential food for the cannon!"

"It seems to me," said the Author-man's wife, "that some provision should be made which would exempt great scientists, artists—musical and otherwise—and leaders of thought generally."

"War is necessity and necessity knows no distinctions," said the Cynic. "If you were barricaded in your house with a foe shooting down upon you would you hesitate to make bullets of your gold watch and silver spoons—if you needed ammunition that is?"

"I suppose not," admitted the Author-man's wife, "but think of a civilization that would permit the sacrifice of a Caruso!"

"Come, Molly," said the Cynic, "you've been sitting there like a sphinx. What do you think of it?"

"I haven't been thinking so much about what you have been saying," confessed Molly, "as I have of some thing in it all. I imagine, we will have some talking of the girl at the place we went to last summer—the daughter of the farmer who had the little place down the road. Perhaps I told you of her passion for painting. Poor child, she can't see anything but what she feels she must express in color. Of course she showed me some of her work. It looked good to me, but I'm no judge. So many people do creditably clever work without having talent enough to accomplish much. But I brought back some of her work. Today I showed it to an artist and he could scarce believe what I told him about the painter. It seemed so real to him."

"Now the girl's needed at home. Her father has no money to send her away to school, even worse he has no sympathy with her art. He sincerely believes that her life would be wasted. Now I suppose there will be some way in which this girl's talent, if not absolute genius—remember the artist was very enthusiastic—might be developed. But I can think of none. And when the Author-man's wife spoke of a civilization that would permit the sacrifice of a Caruso, I thought of this girl and wondered at a civilization that would let a potential genius like hers go to waste. I imagine, we will have some way of conserving national talent, just as we now conserve the forests and other national resources," said the Author-man. "Genius will be encouraged and developed—if such a thing be possible, instead of being permitted to run to seed." "Perhaps," said Molly, "but what I want to know is, how am I going to help this girl?"

OSTRICH FEATHERS POPULAR PLUMAGE

Ostrich Feathers Successful in "Come-Back Stunt in The World of Fashions."

(By Margaret Mason.)

A chicken, a broiler, a squab and a bird fair woman has been dubbed. And so she is trying to dress for the part. And wear all the feathers she can.

New York, Nov. 12.—Any sordid commercial soul can feather her own nest, but it takes a true sartorial genius to feather her own costume artistically. My lady has this winter gone back to her old friend the ostrich for her borrowed plumage. The ostrich plume has returned with added prestige to its high station atop some of the very best hats. It is in its new role of fringe however that it declares the feminine fancy most of this season.

The delicacy and softness of this fragile feathery fringe of feather fronds makes it a particularly desirable garniture on light fluffy evening frocks, gossamer lingerie and daphnaceous negligees but it is also pressed into service as suitable trimming on wraps and neck pieces.

A rushing set of underwear consisting of an underbodice, panties and a petticoat of flesh color Pussywillow tulle makes good the saying "beauty unadorned is the most devoid as it is of frills and furbelows. Its hemstitched edges are finished with the soft fringe of the flesh colored ostrich fronds and a tiny garnish of French ribbon nosebands—one on each pantie, one on the front of the corset cover and four at discreet intervals around the bottom of the petticoat make up its rare simplicity.

A perfect dream of a frock which shows the feather trimming on the neck and the ostrich fringe on the hem. The skirt is a cross between a tight basque and a semi-fitted jacket is of the satin, it buttons up the front and the low cut neck is finished with a flat sailor collar which extends from shoulder to shoulder in the rear where there is also an upstanding medical collar of the feather fringe.

The little jacket extends to below the hips where it ends in a feather finish and its transparent sleeves of the pink net are finished softly about the arms with the ostrich fringe. The skirt is an ankle length accordion pleated affair of the satin over which two full ruffles of the tulle edged ostrich fringe flaunt their airy charms.

Appropos of Theatrical fashions in the window of an exclusive Broadway shop is displayed a gown designed for a certain "know-nothing" noted for her original and startling toilettes. This particular frock consists of a soft white blouse of china silk with a square collar and a dark extremely blue serge which buttons high up on the blouse in an extremely shortwaisted effect. Straps of the serge passed suspender-like over each shoulder.

An obvious steal from the "Little Ditty" and "David Copperfield" suits detected by all the smartest evening gowns fold about the waist and end abruptly just above the bust in the best manner of a bath sheet as faintly affected by steamroom devotees. Even strings of pearls or brilliant ornaments are becoming looked upon as superfluous and a bit of fawls bone up the front back and under each arm is fast that keeps these less-than-bodice-ornaments at a safe distance above the danger line.

In a recent Broadway production called "Experience" Youth asks fashion, who is it that is out of these nothing-above-the-bust-line toilettes to dance with him. "I am afraid to," says Fashion, for fear my dress might fall off.

"I am relieved," responds Youth, "for I thought it had already."

He—You haven't said a word for twenty minutes.

She—Well, I hadn't anything to say.

He—Don't you ever say anything when you have nothing to say?

She—No!

He—Will you be my wife?

She—No!

Woodley's Maté, the Great South American Drink, the Better Beverage for Every Home.

Not to know the delights of Maté is to miss the enjoyment of one of the earth's finest products.

Maté, hot or cold, possesses a balmy bouquet found in no other beverage. Its tangy flavor is so completely satisfying, so refreshing and so invigorating that when one is accustomed to Maté no other drink will prove as pleasing.

Best of all, Maté adds to the pleasures of life with never a single harmful after effect. It doesn't drive away that tired feeling only to be followed by depression. Its action is stomachic and laxative, and it is genuinely strength-giving and nourishing.

Maté is good at every meal every day. Make the day's supply at the breakfast boiling, and serve it hot or cold as wanted. A 50-cent package will make 100 to 200 cups. Can you afford not to know Maté?

Household Hint

IN PLACE OF FRESH MEAT.
Pickled saltwater herring, remove scales, heads and entrails, cut in halves, and place in fresh water for 24 hours, then through a colander to remove salt water. Place them in a crock, slice three-large-sized onions, one tablespoon of mixed spices, cover with vinegar, let remain in vinegar for four or five days. Serve cold with mashed potatoes.

Oysters and Cornbread.—Strain oysters, roll in sifted cornmeal, dip in beaten egg, fry in hot oil. Serve with sauce made of juice of one-half lemon, cup tomato catsup, season to taste with sugar, salt and pepper. Serve with hot cornbread and fresh butter, these oysters are delicious.

Roasted Baked Beans.—Take one quart navy beans and one-half pound salt pork. Put beans in crock and until the beans, when taken in spoon and blown upon, the skins will crack open. Then pour off any water that remains, put in crock or bean pot with cover, put in about half of the beans, then a slice of pork, then remainder of beans, with pork scored on top. Put two scant tablespoons of sugar and one of molasses over top, and fill with hot water. Bake all day in slow oven, adding water as needed. Do not allow to get dry at any time. Cook over fire, when done, add little salt to taste when preparing. Bake according to meat used. With gas stove, boil beans and meat one hour briskly, then bake four hours in hot oven. The all-day process is for a bake oven.

CANNING AND PRESERVING.
Spiced Cranberry Jelly—One quart cranberries, one pint water, one pound granulated sugar, two-inch stick of cinnamon, half teaspoon whole cloves, Cook cranberries, water and spices (last named tied in piece of cheesecloth) until the berries are tender. Press through sieve so as to keep back seeds and skins, but press as much as possible through sieve. Return to pan, add sugar, cook 10 minutes. Test a little and, if it jellies when cold, turn into small glasses; seal when cold.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
When using oranges or lemons, if the rind is fresh and wholesome, pare it thin so as to get none of the bitter white inner skin, and put it in a glass jar of granulated sugar. When the sugar has absorbed enough of the oil of the fruit skin to make it moist, it is ready to use for flavoring cakes, puddings, etc. The bits of rind give a delicious flavor to pudding sauces.

To insure success with salt-rising bread in cold weather, keep the night yeast in a box of hay. A small wooden box with a close fitting lid is best for this purpose. Put hay in the bottom of the box and around the sides. In the middle of this set your yeast, then cover with hay. This will keep the yeast from a chill.

THE TABLE.
Boston Brown Bread—Three cups Graham flour, one cup white flour, one cup molasses, two cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water, one tablespoon melted butter, one cup raisins (soak raisins a little before adding to dough so they won't settle to bottom). Mix well together, bake in slow oven two hours. This makes three loaves, baked in round tin one-pound coffee cans. Fill can a little over half full.

Rolls.—One pint scalded milk, four tablespoons butter (level), three tablespoons (level) sugar, one teaspoon (level) salt, one yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water; flour enough to make a stiff dough (not too stiff). Beat 15 minutes, let rise till twice the size, bake in hot oven about 10 minutes. When milk is scalded, let cool until lukewarm before putting in any of the articles. Butter should be melted, when ready to put in pans, use mufin pans; take dough in hands the size of hickorynuts, make in round balls, then put three in each mufin pan, then set aside till twice the size. These can be heated up for any meal in hot oven.

Tea Rolls.—Boll one pint sweet milk, add half cup shortening (butter and lard), one-half cup sugar, when cold add one cup soft yeast, one tablespoon salt, and enough flour to make stiff batter. Let rise overnight, then mix, let rise again roll out and cut with biscuit cutter. When ready to bake, roll 2 1/2 minutes. Avoid too much flour. If directions are closely followed the result will be perfect.

Stuffed Red Peppers sweet.—One half dozen sweet red peppers; clean, and take out inside by cutting a slice off stem. Fill with following: One pound chopped beef, scant one-half cup rice (raw), one beaten egg, salt, pepper, one onion chopped fine, three tablespoons milk, two well-soaked peppers and simmer two and one-half hours in the following sauce: One quart tomatoes heated, strained and salted. Cover kettle.

Every Day Talks To Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

"There is a destiny that shapes our end, rough-hewn though it may be."

"If you send me your picture," wrote a young man of twenty-one, to a girl of eighteen, "I will send you mine. I have worked hard, and am steadily saving, against the day when I can return to your country and marry you. For, marry you, my girl, or no one. She read the letter. She turned the little ring, the first she had ever worn, around her finger and kissed it.

The girl, receiving it not, and having sent her own, waxed angry and sent back to the young man his letter, unopened. The young man had a back bone, as well as a young woman. After six of his weekly letters were returned he made the monumental mistake of thinking she had changed her mind. He had told her, in the start, just one year before, that he would marry her, or no one. He had told her, in his letters, of again. He meant it. Three years ago, in which the heart of one at least was torn and bleeding, sensitive to an extreme. All young people may have friends, companions, lovers. So, it came to pass, that the picture, tossed in the time asked to marry, and her parents suggested to her that it was the proper thing to do.

Through the years that she had waited, vainly hoping, she saw no face but the face of the young man who had told her he would marry her—or no one. She was young. The day for her marriage was set. And then—was it the irony of fate?—came a letter saying, "I will be in your city the fifteenth—I am coming for you."

The fifteenth was her wedding day—to the other fellow. She begged her parents to release her. Fearful of the conventionalities, they demurred. Pass over in kindly silence the days that followed. She kept her promise to the man who was preparing to marry her. A family of growing sons and daughters gathered around her, and yet, when a seemingly fatal illness seized her, when she lay on the operating table, it was not her husband's name she called, but the name of the boy who had said to her, "I will marry her—or no one. Through the years, the hand of the man who has kept her, cared for her, given her his name—had been the hand of the man she turned to, with a sturdy allegiance in all things.

And yet, alone, she sits sometimes, and sitting, idly dreams. There rises up before her eyes a bush of rambling roses, and inside by cutting a slice off stem. Fill with following: One pound chopped beef, scant one-half cup rice (raw), one beaten egg, salt, pepper, one onion chopped fine, three tablespoons milk, two well-soaked peppers and simmer two and one-half hours in the following sauce: One quart tomatoes heated, strained and salted. Cover kettle.

DON'T DYE GRAY HAIR LET AIR RESTORE IT.

Don't let gray hair make you prematurely old—keep young—by making your hair young. All you need to do is to use Hay's Hair Health.

Not a dye does not work like a dye. It contains good old-fashioned, harmless ingredients which stimulate growth and prepare the hair for the action of a certain other ingredient which, when applied, actually causes the action of air to restore natural color to the hair.

It is positively sure that your hair absolutely cannot help taking on the beautiful dark shade you so much desire. Hay's Hair Health also brings back the life and healthy lustre that nature gave it, and, best of all, no one will know you are using anything.

All druggists in Janesville, who sell and recommend Hay's Hair Health, say that if sales indicate anything this is the most popular preparation ever brought to the attention of gray haired people. Their claim to be selling more of it than all other preparations of similar nature put together. You can buy it in 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles. It is made by the Philo Hay Specialties Company, Newark N. J.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Grace Is Getting Entirely Too Tidy.

BY P. LEIPZIGER

The Trey O' Hearts

A Novelized Version of the Motion Picture Drama of the Same Name Produced by the Universal Film Co.

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

Author of "The Fortune Hunter," "The Brass Band," "The Black Bag," etc.

Illustrated with Photographs from the Picture Production

Copyright, 1914, by Louis Joseph Vance

He saw, clearly silhouetted against the glowing oblong of the window, the Mephistophelean profile of Seneca Trine, distorted with a grimace of the cruellest joy that ever heart of man conceived. He saw Marrophat approach his master with a drunken swagger and a speech which, though indistinguishable to the unseen auditor, unquestionably afforded both of the other men ample excuse for ecstatic glee. Toward its conclusion Mr. Marrophat apparently capped the peak of jubilation by tumbling in his coat pocket and bringing forth something which strongly resembled a single playing card.

Now when he had contrived to master his mirth, the cripple made a gesture which eloquently abolished this card, a gesture which said quite plainly: "All that is finished. The thing has served its purpose! To hell with it!"

Whereupon, with a smart jerk of his wrist, Mr. Marrophat sent the card spinning and sailing out through the open window to lose itself in the night. The watcher didn't see it fall, and though he spent an unconscionable time searching for it in the deep dust of the roadway, he went his way in the end with curiosity unsated. Fate had reserved that card for a higher purpose.

Undisturbed, it lay where it had fallen, face upward, not a dozen feet from the front door of the Mountain house, until another day dawned on Mesquite.

Then, in the clear light of that dawn, four more strangers straggled into town—two weary and haggard men, two footsore and bedraggled women. One of these last was dressed in a suit of man's clothing, much the worse for wear.

At sight of the Mountain house the party betrayed slight symptoms of a more cheerful spirit: rejoicing in its promise of food and drinks and beds, withal, wherein to sleep, the four quickened their steps.

But of a sudden one of the women—she who wore the garments of her sex—paused, uttered a low cry, a thrill with terror, and clutching the arm of the man nearest her, pointed down to the card that stared up from the dust at her feet.

It was a Trey of Hearts.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

Full Flight.

"Oh, what can it mean?" Rose whispered brokenly, clinging to her lover's arm. "Surely you don't think . . . Surely, it must be accidental . . . Surely it can't mean—"

"I'm afraid it does," Alan Law responded gravely, eyeing the front of the Mountain house. "Our luck holds consistently—that's all. It wouldn't be us if we didn't pick out the one place where Marrophat and Jimmy chose to stop over night. Fortunately, it's early; I doubt they're up. With half a show we ought to be able to find some way of putting a good distance between us and this town before they waken."

But Mr. Barcus was already at his elbow, in thorough sympathy with Alan's interpretation of the significance to be attached to the card that trembled in Rose's hand.

"Sharp's the word!" he agreed.

was faster than either.

Alan kept his gaze steadfast to the road before them, daring not once to look up and round or back.

So sinuous and maddening was its course, indeed, that Alan seldom could see a hundred yards of it ahead, but must peep on in panic flight, hoping for the best—that Judith and Barcus would soon show up in front, that something might happen to hinder the pursuit—never knowing whether the latter lost or gained.

And thus catastrophe befell. Round the swelling bosom of a wooded mountainside the motorcycle swept like a hunted hare, and without the least warning came upon Barcus and Judith, dismounted, Barcus bending over his cycle and tinkering with its motor.

For one horripilating instant collision seemed unavoidable. Barcus and Judith and the motorcycle occupied most of the width of the road; there was little room between them and the forest. To try to pass them on the latter side would be only to dash his brains out against the trees; while to make the attempt on the outside would be to risk leaving the road altogether and dashing off into space.

And it was impossible to stop the cycle—so brief was all his warning. In desperation Alan chose the outside of the road; and for the space of a single heartbeat thought that he might possibly make it, but with the next realized that he would not—seeing the front wheel swing off over the lip of the slope.

At this he acted sharply and upon sheer instinct. As the cycle left the road altogether he risked a broken knee by releasing his grasp of the handlebars and straightening out his leg and driving it down forcibly against the roadbed. The effect of this was to lift him bodily from the saddle; the machine shot from beneath him like some strange projectile hurled from the bore of a great gun; and Rose crashed against him in the same fraction of a second.

Headlong they plunged as one down the hillside, struck its shelving surface a good twenty feet from the brink of the road, and flying apart tumbled their separate ways down the remainder of the drop and into the friendly shelter of the underbrush.

Something nearly miraculous saved them whole. Beyond a few scratches and bruises and a severe shaking up, they escaped unharmed. And they were picking themselves up and regaining their breath and re-collecting their scattered wits when, with impetus no less terrific than their own had been, the pursuing motor car swung round the bend and hurled itself directly at the two who remained upon the road above.

CHAPTER XLIX.

Sacrifice.

But Tom Barcus hadn't failed to profit by the warning implicit in Alan's accident.

Alan, he told himself shrewdly, would never have run his cycle at so foolhardy a pace without good reason; and under the circumstances good reason was synonymous solely with pursuit.

He was therefore on the alert, quick to see the racing automobile when it

BIGGEST VALUE EVER

Hundreds of THE GAZETTE readers are clipping the coupons for Theodore Roosevelt's "African Game Trails," the big book of adventure and wild animal life on the Dark Continent. Here is a book which has always been sold by YOUR OWN BOOKDEALER for $4 and upwards. This is not guesswork—verify it for yourself. It is worth every cent of its $4 price. The present popular edition has been printed from exactly the same plates, with their hundreds of unsurpassed photographs of animal life, to which have now been added a number of superb and costly color plates.

Animals in Color

The true-to-life color studies of the larger African animals in action constitute the most elaborate effort ever made by any publisher of travel books. These full-page reproductions, with their warm tropical colorings, depict the intense ferocity of savage brutes in their final mad endeavors to tear, limb from limb, the intruding hunter.

Here are a few of the color plate subjects:

Charging Rhinoceros
African Buffalo
Leopard Shooting at Close Range
Hippopotamus Hunting
Charging Lion
Near Encounter with a Bull Elephant
Duel Between Lion and Native, etc.

The publication of this book is entirely divorced from politics. Hundreds of thousands who differ with Col. Roosevelt politically, recognize his great ability as a naturalist, hunter and writer, and to them this book will appeal as his masterpiece.

Morning Light Strongest.

The morning light is from ten to thirty per cent stronger than that of the afternoon, varying with the season. The light-transmitting properties of different kinds of glass vary greatly. Thus the loss of light from glass as compared with outdoor light ranges all the way from thirteen to thirty-six per cent or more. The practice of lapping the panes causes an average loss of light of about eleven per cent. The transmission of light naturally increases as the angle of the roof more nearly coincides with a right angle to the sun's rays.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS

In stress and trouble the women of a nation are always to be counted upon. In Serbia the women went to the front with muskets in their hands; they were as strong and brave as the men on the firing line. In this country few of our women escape the weakening troubles peculiar to their sex.

For every disease or ailment of a womanly character, no matter how recent or how long standing, the one sure, reliable remedy of proved merit is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper. Women are earnestly advised to use it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, sallow complexion and nervousness.

For girls about to enter womanhood, women about to become mothers and for the changing days of middle age Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand.

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

The many recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alternative are attracting wide attention. Read about this case.

"I am D. St. Keyser, W. Va. A gentleman—'I was taken sick, a November, 1908. I grew steadily worse. Had two consultations. The result was the fever had affected my lungs and that my case was hopeless; only gave me two months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he objected to him trying Eckman's Alternative. I was in bed from November 30, 1908, until February 25, 1909, and was thought dying several times. Today I am healthier and stronger than ever." (Abbreviated.)

(Signed) MRS. H. K. BRILEY. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and in building the system. Contains no harmful or poisoning drugs. Admit no substitutes. Small size, 1c regular size, 2c. Sold by leading druggists. Write for booklet.

Paul O. Hustling of Mayville, democratic candidate for United States senator, leads Governor E. E. McGovern, republican, by 1,100 votes, according to the official returns on file at the secretary of state's office. The figures for all counties are official with the exception of Milwaukee, where the canvass has not been completed. Unless the count can change the result materially in favor of McGovern, Hustling will be Senator Stephenson's successor at Washington. The figures show that majorities in eight counties, as against fifty-three for McGovern, have elected Hustling. The total vote is Hustling, 135,321; McGovern, 134,221; Seidel, 30,461.

The official figures show that Phillip's plurality meets the expectation of his friends and supporters, nearly every doubtful county in the state swinging to the republican column, while the Karel vote came from counties that have long been classed as rock-ribbed democratic.

Following is the vote on the state officers:

For governor.—Phillip (Rep.), 141,181; Karel (Dem.), 119,937; Ameringer (S. D.), 26,797; Blaine, La Follette progressive, 32,738. Phillip's plurality, 21,244.

For lieutenant governor.—Dithmar (Rep.), 154,436; Hoyt (Dem.), 117,927; McCaleb (S. D.), 27,061. Dithmar's plurality, 36,509.

Secretary of state.—Donald (Rep.), 154,671; Truesell (Dem.), 118,412; Renfield (S. D.), 27,443. Donald's plurality, 36,259.

For state treasurer.—Johnson (Rep.)

153,743; Fisher (Dem.), 116,681; Deuss (S. D.), 28,103. Johnson's plurality, 37,060.

For attorney general.—Owen (Rep.), 155,863; Kading (Dem.), 111,344; Jasepa (S. D.), 27,022. Owen's plurality, 44,519.

Wisconsin dealt a staggering blow to the ten socialistic amendments according to the compilation of official figures. Every one was defeated by a two to one ratio, which shows a promising indication on the part of the voters of their wish to return to the realm of common sense and wise legislation.

The figures tell the story: Amendment No. 1, which provided an easy way to amend the constitution, was defeated by sixty-five counties and carried by five. The vote was 68,639 in favor of the action and 156,068 against it, a majority of more than two to one.

Amendment No. 2, which provided for the initiative and referendum, was defeated by a vote of 81,155 for and 143,800 against. Eleven counties carried it and sixty counties decided against it.

Risk Plan Voted Down. Amendment No. 3, one of the two which provided a way for the state to enter into the insurance business on an unlimited scale, was defeated by a vote of almost three to one. The vote for was 56,990 and that against 163,992. One county out of seventy-one favored this amendment by a small majority.

Amendment No. 4, providing home rule for cities and villages, the most popular of the amendments since its adoption by the legislature, carried ten counties. Many public speakers and candidates favored this amendment, but it went down in the path of the storm which buried the others.

Judges Are Safeguarded. Amendment No. 5, which provided a way to decrease the number of judicial circuits and authorized the legislature to provide the judges of the several circuits, was carried by one county and defeated by seventy. The vote was 60,143 for and 150,764 against.

Amendment No. 6, providing the recall of all elective officers except judicial officers, carried eleven counties and defeated by seventy-one. The vote was 77,875 for and 150,344 against.

Amendment No. 7, which provided for the taking of private property for public use, carried four counties and sixty-seven voted against it. The vote was 55,305 for and 150,621 against.

Amendment No. 8, a partner of No. 1 in providing an easy way to amend the constitution, was carried by five counties and defeated by sixty-five. The vote was 65,008 for and 146,163 against.

No. 9 Least Popular. Amendment No. 9, the second entering wedge for state insurance on a large scale, met the fate of its companion Amendment No. 3. This amendment was carried by two counties, while No. 3 carried but one, but No. 9 had the distinction of receiving the least number of popular votes. The vote was 56,230 for and 161,055 against.

Amendment No. 10, which provided for raising the salaries of the members of the legislature, carried three counties. The vote was 65,193 for and 153,168 against.

Bayfield county, with its small vote, has the honor of having voted for every one of the ten amendments. Polk county carried eight, Rusk county seven, Barron county five, Sawyer county five, Milwaukee and Adams three each. The majority of the counties defeated every one of the ten.

It is noticeable that wherever an amendment was carried it was in a county where the vote was small, except Milwaukee county, where the socialists figured.

Barron county was the only one to carry the first insurance amendment. Bayfield and Jackson carried No. 9, the second insurance amendment. The home rule amendment was carried by the following counties: Adams, Barron, Bayfield, Jackson, Polk, Price, Rusk, Sawyer, Vilas, Milwaukee.

LAKE COEN NUPTIALS ARE CELEBRATED ON THURSDAY

Miss Martha M. Lake of This City Becomes Bride of Darby J. Coen.

The wedding of Miss Martha M. Lake, daughter of Mrs. C. E. Lake, of this city, and Darby J. Coen of the town of La Prairie, was solemnized at the parsonage of St. Patrick's church at eleven o'clock Thursday morning. Dean E. E. Reilly read the service. The young couple was attended by Miss Bessie Lake, sister of the bride, and Thomas Coen, brother of the groom. The bride is a young woman of charm and has been engaged as a school teacher in the town of La Prairie for the past three years. She was graduated from the Janesville high school in 1910. Mr. Coen is the son of Darby Coen, and is a well to do farmer of the town of La Prairie. They will be at home in La Prairie after December 1.

Sport Snap Shots

England, particularly London, is getting back on the sport map. The National Sporting club again is conducting bouts. One bout a week before good-sized crowds is the program. Horse racing is going on as usual, although some of the tracks are being used as military camps. Professional football has not been interfered with adversely by the war. Hockey and lacrosse have been hit hardest. Very few men will play these games this winter. There are 20,000,000 in England who are not engaged in it is not strange that England's cry now is "Sport as usual."

Some big changes are being made at the Polo grounds in New York. The old clubhouse is being rebuilt so as to have good quarters for both the home and visiting clubs. It will be of two stories instead of one. The interurban company is lengthening the 15th street station so that visitors to the Polo grounds in the future can get off right at the gate instead of having to walk the usual three blocks.

Football surprises have been many this season, but ranking at the top of the reversals is the showing made by the Carlisle Indians on the gridiron. In other seasons the Indians were foes to be reckoned with by the best of the college teams, but this year the Indians began to slump early in the season and have not recovered yet. Nor does there seem much likelihood of their doing so. The Indians marched through last season with only one defeat and that by Pittsburgh. They played a 7-7 tie with Penn. defeated Cornell 7 to 0, Lehigh by 21 to 0, Syracuse by 35 to 0, Dartmouth by 34 to 10 and Brown by 16 to 0. It was an old-time Carlisle eleven which did this. Unless the Indians show an improvement that is unlooked for by the football sharps, the team will go through the season of 1914 with one of the poorest records ever made by an Indian eleven.

OLD AND NEW WAY

THE HYOMEL REMEDY FOR CATARRH, COLDS AND CROUP A MOST VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

The discovery of Hyomel has made a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh, head colds, and similar ailments—you simply breathe a medicated air using a small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit. Hyomel is a combination of antiseptic oils that mixes with the air so that its health-giving medication must go directly to the sore, raw, inflamed lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. It almost immediately stops the disagreeable nasal discharges, quickly relieves that choked-up feeling, heals and strengthens the delicate tissues.

The strongest evidence of Hyomel's curative value for catarrh, head colds, asthma, etc., is that you will know it, straight off. Smith Drug Co. sell it under a guarantee to return your money if you are not satisfied. Do not delay treatment for Hyomel is not only harmless but pleasant to use, and nothing to pay if not cured.

Amusements

AT THE APOLLO. Vaudeville for the week opened yesterday at the Apollo with a first class variety of offerings. Arthur Morris opened a very clever act of card manipulation in which he has the people guessing with the number of his feats. The act has great merit for it is so different from the usual card trick.

The Garinetti Brothers present one of the best acrobatic attractions in vaudeville. They have a number of accomplishments shown each before with them is a dog which plays ball with the audience. One clever stunt

AT THE APOLLO. One of the boys throws a dozen hats from the balcony which are caught one at a time on the other's head. Madame? a famous singer and a noted writer and lecturer who hides her identity behind a mask has a marvellously beautiful soprano voice. She sings some very difficult and strong numbers and is a musical treat for lovers of good singing.

AT MYERS THEATRE. Managers Myers announces an unusually good vaudeville bill for Friday, Saturday and Sunday with 8 matinee daily. These acts are booked through the Western Vaudeville Manager's Association who book some excellent acts. These three acts have played some of the biggest time in the country. Woods Musical Trio is a high-class novelty with Edith, the Girl Behind the Drums. The famous Heiman Trio is billed as a mile a minute act. A new act, the Davenport is a winsome miss who appears in songs and stories.

"The Trex O' Hearts." The famous serial picture entitled "The Mirage" will appear tonight. Some extra excitement is promised. Thrill follows thrill and they get closer to each other as the story draws to a close.

The popular Chicago Herald Movies will appear tonight. They show late interesting events which have happened in and near Chicago. Their augmented orchestra will furnish the music.

"The Wrath of the Gods." This wonderful picture will be produced at Myers Theatre for two days, November 17th and 18th with matinee daily. The Wrath of the Gods shows how the deities of ancient Japan, seemingly caused a terrific eruption to avenge the insult of broken decree and the conversion of a beautiful maiden to the Christian faith.

"The Wrath of the Gods" was acclaimed a masterpiece by all New York critics during its record-breaking engagement at the Strand Theatre. In the motion picture field this production is greater than "The Darling of the Gods" in drama or "Madame Butterfly" in opera.

Money was used without stint in making this stupendous production with its company of genuine Japanese star artists, its surging crowds, its extraordinary photographic and scenic effects. The volcanic eruption and the terrible typhoon are such that can never be obliterated from the mind.

Commencing Saturday, Nov. 14, 20 per cent discount will be given on all trimmed hats at Miss Feeley's, 9 S. Main St.

BISHOP MULDON TO LECTURE HERE SUNDAY

"What Character of Man America Needs" is the subject which Bishop Muldon of Rockford will take in his lecture Sunday evening at St. Mary's church. The bishop is a most interesting speaker and will do justice to this live topic. The lecture is under the auspices of Circle No. 3 for the benefit of the church.

IF YOUR SKIN ITCHES, JUST USE RESINOL

The moment that Resinol Ointment touches itching skin, the itching stops and healing begins. That is why doctors have prescribed it successfully for nineteen years in even the severest cases of eczema, tetter, ringworm, rashes and other tormenting, unsightly skin eruptions. Aided by warm baths with Resinol Soap, Resinol Ointment restores the skin to perfect health and comfort, quickly, easily and at little cost.

You need never hesitate to use Resinol. It contains absolutely nothing that could injure the tenderest skin—even of a tiny baby. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c.). For trial free, write to Dept. KX, Resinol Baltimore, Md. Avoid substitutes by calling for Resinol by name. Unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer worthless imitations.

Best Laxative For Children

When your baby is cross and fretful instead of the happy, laughing little dear you are accustomed to, in all probability the digestion has become deranged and the bowels need attention. Give it a mild laxative, dispel the irritability and bring back the happy content of babyhood.

The very best laxative for children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, because it contains no opiate or narcotic drug, is pleasant tasting and acts gently, but surely, without griping or other distress. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

A LADY OF MYSTERY IS SEEN ON STREETS

Woman With a Black Mask Causes Many People to Wonder as to Her Identity.

Who is she? That is the question the people on the streets have been asking as a lady in a black mask would walk or ride by on a horse.

The mysterious lady in black has been haunting the streets of the city for the past two days and no one knows her name.

She came to the city Thursday morning masked. She registered at a prominent hotel masked.

She comes and goes, but always masked. She goes in and out the stores still with the shroud of mystery about her.

When asked why she wears a mask she smiles and makes an evasive reply. No one seems to know whether she is a local woman or not.

Some say that if her face was seen or her name pronounced, nearly everyone would know her as a famous singer, or a well known authoress and a noted lecturer.

At any rate, she appears to be an exceptional rider.

MISS MARION VANDERLYN WEDS IRVING ALLISON

Miss Marion Gay Vanderlyn, formerly a resident of this city, and Irving Allison were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. B. Laurean, at Minneapolis, on November tenth. The Rev. Fessenden performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends and relatives. Miss Evelyn Vanderlyn, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Harry C. Corbin was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Allison will be at their Minneapolis home after December first, at 29 Spruce Place.

EXPECT TO FINISH SEWER WORK MONDAY

Constructing Big Manhole and Catch Basin at Corner of Chatham and Pleasant Streets.

One of the largest storm sewer manholes and catch basins is being constructed by the city at the corner of Chatham and Pleasant streets, and will be completed about Monday of next week.

The thirty-inch sewer work has been laid as far as the south corner of Chatham street and the ditch is being curved around to connections with curb and gutters.

From the big manhole the sewer will be changed from thirty inches to thirty-six inches to the turn, where a stop will be made this year.

The catch basin is down five feet below the sewer making a seventeen foot drop from the street level. Next year the sewer will be continued to Bluff street on Chatham, west on Bluff to Palm, where connections will be made by means of an open gutter from Pine street. Besides taking all the drainage water from all the streets below Ravine street, the new sewer will take the water in the low levels off the head of Ravine street, which has caused great trouble to the residents in past years. Up to the present time a total of 798 bags of cement have been used and it was estimated that a least two hundred more would be necessary to complete the gigantic manhole at Chatham street and make the turn.

The Pleasant street sewer has proven one of the largest and most costly projects that the city has undertaken, without contracts, in recent years, and satisfactory results are being obtained.

St. Menchoud—In the picturesque valley of the Aisne, in northwestern France, four miles west of the forest of Argonne, lies this little town of about a thousand inhabitants. It was here that "Old Dragon Drouot" recognized Louis XVI on his attempted flight from France in 1791. The town is known for its pork. The place was named from Menchoud, daughter of Sigmare, Count of Pertheis, who lived in a magnificent castle on top of the steep, rocky hill, at whose foot the town is located. The daughter was famed for her charitable deeds and was considered a saint by the poor people, to whose wants she administered. In 1793 the people of the town changed its name from Montagne-sur-Aisne to St. Menchoud.

Grandpre—A small town on the northern border of the Forest of Argonne, in the northwestern part of France, at the foot of a steep valley, on the right bank of the river Aisne. A large castle, in which are relics and pieces of art, nearly 300 years old, crown the top of a neighboring hill. The town commands one of the passes, running east and west, through the hilly and wooded Argonne region.

MARIANOPKA—A Russian town, ten miles south of southwest of Warsaw, with a population of about 2,500. In the surrounding neighborhood there are numerous mounds, in one of which, in 1845, was found a huge tomb which contained many human skeletons. Scattered around the caverns were pieces of armor and numerous other objects, many of them made of clay, which dated from the earliest days of Russia.

"KLAVICLE" OVERCOATS

Last Saturday we sold a large number of this extremely popular model. If you didn't get yours last Saturday come in tomorrow. We have just received a new lot.

The Klavicle to set all tongues a-wagging before snow flies in fact, already has started a number of them.

To generalize briefly—the Klavicle is a Kuppenheimer coat, cut with care-free abandon of a warrior's cape—not an ounce of padding—one-eighth lined with satin, while a-down the front gleams a row of real South American buffalo horn buttons.

These coats are of medium weight fabrics in the most beautiful colorings imaginable. Some have velvet collars in harmonious shades, while others have self-collars. All are tailored with the inimitable care and thoroughness characteristic of every Kuppenheimer production and the price is considerably less than their appearance would indicate.
